

The smart way to pay

Astute cash flow management is essential for operating a successful business. In today's competitive environment many businesses prefer to spread their professional fees rather than paying as a single lump sum.

feeSmart is a monthly payment option we offer clients who prefer to fund their professional fees over a six or twelve month period.

We know that our clients using feeSmart are generally quite capable of paying their professional fee as a lump sum BUT they simply prefer to manage their cash more effectively.

That's smart.

The smart way to pay

Benefits include being:

Sensible: existing credit lines are retained for other business needs.

Simple: a loan agreement and bank authority are all that is needed.

Stress Free: avoid becoming an overdue debtor with professional advisers.

Smart: the small credit charge is a deductible expense to your business.

Two simple options to proceed:

Contact your advisor

Contact your professional advisor and advise them which feeSmart option you prefer – six or twelve months. They will arrange for the application and bank authority to be sent to you for completion.
